

Change Notice

2023-01-02 13:51

Date: 2023-01-02

Publication: www.solveco.se

To whom it may concern: all customer base

Change level: minor

Background to the change

The changes are done to secure homogeneity of article description throughout the product range.

Changes will be deployed progressively during the 1st half year of 2023, impacting:

- The Article Description of the product.
- The Description of the product in SDS.
- In some cases, the description of the product in CoAs.

Changes do not impact the quality of the product.

Solveco products are identified through a unique alphanumeric Article number. It is the that unique Article number that defines the product specifications.

A text description is added for visibility and easier process to each article number.

Description of the changes

The changes are only located on the description of article codes of some of the ethanol products.

The changes are only at the description level and the Article number and the content of the product remain unchanged.

- All Article descriptions regarding 95% Ethanol are renamed 96% Ethanol.
- All Article descriptions regarding 99,5% Ethanol are renamed Absolute Ethanol (ABS in short).

There is no change of the product content or quality deriving from the change in text.
